Purpose: The best food to feed canine and feline companion animals is the food they are genetically adapted to: the raw, natural, archetypal prey diet. This not only would include muscle meat, but also bones, organs and the vegetation-filled viscera. CALL OF THE WILD is designed to be used as a supplement to help balance a fresh meat diet. Used in this way, meals will mimic the archetypal diet of companion animals by providing muscle and organ meat, fats, and innumerable micronutrients in the levels and proportions found in natural prey.

Directions: (3-4 shakes = 1 tsp.; 3 tsp. = 1 Tbsp., 1 tsp. = 0.127 oz.)

Top-dress or mix with each fresh meat meal:

Weaning kittens and puppies - a pinch (light shake) with each feeding.

Adult cats, older puppies and adult dogs - 1 teaspoon (3-4 full shakes) per 3 oz (approximately 1/3 cup) of fresh meat.

- Vitamin or mineral supplements need not be used with CALL OF THE WILD.
- CALL OF THE WILD is intended for intermittent or supplemental feeding only.
